

Academic Archive — MANIFESTO

There's always a better way of doing things. When it comes to studying, I believe a simple, reliable system beats anything that's been over-engineered into something questionable in substance and barely accessible. This archive is built on that principle.

FOR THOSE WHO STUDY

No subscriptions, no credits, no creeping paywalls. You pay once, you get the file, it's yours forever. The price is stated in the catalogue before you buy, not after a dozen clicks.

No bloated catalogues: few materials, individually chosen and curated. Every document has been read, assessed, and judged worthy of being here. What you find is what you expect.

No accounts, no apps, no passwords to recover. You scan a QR code, you order through Telegram, you receive the material. A few steps, zero friction.

No automated replies. Behind this archive there's a real person, reachable, who answers personally and the same goes for every registered author. If something goes wrong, there's someone to talk to.

FOR THOSE WHO CONTRIBUTE

Your work has value. If you've produced quality material during your studies, it can keep existing and generating value — for other students who'll use it, and for you. Every item is distributed with a named tracking system: a personalized watermark for each buyer and hidden identifiers. Your name doesn't end up in an anonymous pile: your work is recognized and protected. You retain the copyright on what you produce. You can request its withdrawal at any time. We agree on the sale price together (case by case, not by algorithm). You'll receive a concrete share on every sale.

WHAT IT WILL NEVER BE

It won't be an anonymous platform with millions of documents uploaded once and forgotten, nor a marketplace where anyone uploads and no one checks, nor a service that grows by neglecting quality. It will remain a modest, curated, transparent archive. That's a choice, not a limit.
